Thirty three carloads of garbanzos valued at a total of $148,500, were admitted at the port of Nogales during the last two days according to information given out yesterday morning by the customs department. This is a slight decrease below the daily average but it is accounted for by the fact that there was a slight momentary scarcity of cars to move the crop out of Sonora and Sinaloa. It is stated that there are more than $2,000,000 worth of garbanzos stored in warehouses of Nogales awaiting movement to markets of the world. The shipping season for the chick peas is expected to last for several weeks longer and the total value of the 1920 crop, it is predicted, will pass the $7,000,000.—Oasis.

THE NEW ROUTE TO NOGALES.

I. C. E. Adams, chairman of the Cochise county board of supervisors, said here last Tuesday that within the next year there would be a new highway from Cochise county to Nogales, traversing the southern slope of the Huachuca mountains and cutting 60 miles off of the present route. It is understood the three members of the board are very much in favor of the proposed road, and that it will be built. The route already has been roughly surveyed, which gives assurance of the practicability of constructing it.

The proposed road is very much desired by the war department, for it would facilitate the transfer of troops between Douglas and Nogales, give a border highway from here to the Santa Cruz county seat, and would make border patrol a very simple matter in a section where it has been a very difficult problem. Whether the war department can give any financial aid to the project is not known, but the federal aid arrangements provide for co operation whenever the conditions are of military advantage, which makes it certain the county's money can be matched dollar for dollar in the undertaking.

There is a large and growing travel between Cochise county and Nogales, and the lack of a direct road has been a big drawback. The proposed road through Bisbee, Hereford and on to the mountain pass would be as straight as one could expect a road to be built in this country. It would place Bisbee as near Nogales as Tucson is at present, and would benefit both Santa Cruz and Cochise counties. It is a highway that must be constructed, and Douglas and Bisbee should do everything possible to hasten a beginning. The war department has had the road mapped out for a long time, and it is strange that steps have not been taken before by this county toward a roadway that means so much to so many people.—Douglas Dispatch.
